Bunkering

Excellence

Monjasa has during the last decade become one of the World's leading suppliers within our field of business. With offices in all major time zones, our young, dynamic and highly qualified trader teams, together with our professional administration staff, we are always ready to provide you with the best service available in the industry.

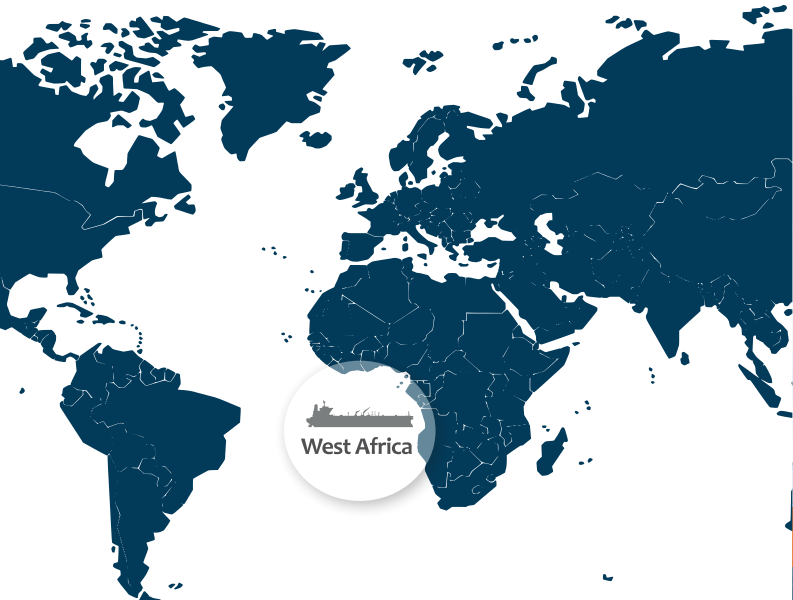

The bunkering company was established in 2002 when two second-hand mobile phones company founders, Jan Jacobsen and Anders Østergaard set the course for Monjasa on the international bunkering market from a small office in Kolding, Denmark. Today, Monjasa employs some 600 skilled bunker traders and maritime specialists, and boasts with a global fleet of more than 30 supply tankers. The company has a global footprint with offices in most major port cities in the world.

With a constant increasing fleet of tankers, and nearly 5 million tonnes of oil products supplied every year, Monjasa is not only a commercially strong partner, but also a safe haven in terms of financial capabilities.

The Monjasa Namibia office opened its doors on 1 July 2014 in Walvis Bay, to enable vessel owners and shipping companies easier access to bunkering services along the west coast of Africa. Monjasa is committed to delivering best product sources, considering price, quality, environment and general performance.
